

Richard Gizbert
Hampstead

05 May 2008

Re: Margony Design & Build Ltd

I employed Margony for a complete renovation of our flat in Hampstead in 2003. The entire three bedroom, two reception flat was gutted, and re-done based on our architect's specification, including a lovely 33 foot wide orangery leading to the garden.

Nikola, the company owner offers more than a building background. He worked well with the architect, had design ideas of his own and at times suggested improvements to the architect's plans. Later, when the architect had a building project of her own, she hired Nikola and Margony to do it for her, which is probably a better recommendation than I could ever offer.

Nikola and his team of builders are professional and hard-working. The only complaints we ever had were from neighbours, when the team sometimes worked beyond the 1:00 pm deadline on Saturdays. They completed the project on time, which is a rarity in the London building environment.

I have no hesitation in recommending Nikola and Margony. Unfortunately, because we sold our flat in 2007, I am unable to show you his work. Fortunately, with Margony's help, we did very well on the sale of the flat.

Yours sincerely

Richard Gizbert